The saints of Gower showed us that holiness is a way of travelling through the world with praise, mercy, courage, and radiant trust — so that others may find the path to life.

This is the call to our churches now: not to be impressive, but to be luminous; not to be successful, but to be faithful; not to be anxious, but to be pilgrims; not to be spectators, but to be path-makers. We are called to be the peace we desire to see in the world.

Wild Church Remembers

This November we'll be gathering for a contemplative outdoor Wild Church as we mark Remembrance season.

Through nature, reflection, creativity and prayer, we'll remember those we've lost, honour sacrifice, explore what it means to be known by God, and discover hope for the future.

Suitable for all ages.

This will be a chance to gather, spend time together, reflect on what is shared, and take part in a range of simple activities.

We'd love you to come along, join in, and share in the experience with us.

Saturday the 28th of November.

10:30am at St George's Church Reynoldston.

Please book on so that we can plan resources.

Gogledd Gŵyr

November 1st 2026 – First of Kingdom
All Saints

I will bless the LORD at all times; his praise shall ever be in my mouth. Psalm 34

Praise is the pulse of the saints,
The rhythm that carried Illtyd,
Rhydian, Gwynour, Teilo, Dewi,
Elen, Cenydd, Madoc and Cadoc,
Through storm, hunger, exile, and joy.
Not triumphal praise,
But the quiet, steady kind,
That grows in the humble heart,
God adorns with peace.
It is the praise sung in small chapels,
On wind-bitten cliffs,
The praise whispered by pilgrims,
Crossing Elen's old trackways,
The praise that rises from the faithful,
On their couches, from the flute,
The drum, and the breath.
This is the inheritance we receive,
A song older than kingdoms,
A melody carried,
By the communion of saints,
Into the marrow of our own lives.
